uclaPPIDForTest

Definition
This is an operational attribute that indicates the entry is created for the purpose of testing on the production instance of the UCLA Enterprise Directory, with a uclaPPID not recorded in the ed_id_change_queue table in EDIMI database.

Data Flow
This attribute is set to ‘Y’ when the Enterprise Directory administrator manually creates a new entry for the purpose of testing on the production instance of the UCLA Enterprise Directory.

Source System
The Enterprise Directory managed by Middleware Service, IT Services.

Access Permission
This is not a user attribute.